THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES of Bay de Noc Community College Wednesday approved a 133-acre tract in this location as the site for expansion of the college. The college tract, to be obtained from the City of Escanaba, is bounded on the east by U.S. 2 and 41 (the curving road near the top of the photo) and on the south by the new Danforth Rd. (running diagonally to

GOP Mixed On Property Tax Help

LANSING (AP)—Senate Republicans discussed Wednesday what, if any, property tax rebates should be included in a proposed state income tax package. But they failed to reach a majority position on the matter.

Senate majority leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, said the GOP caucus considered six property tax plans. The caucus intended to continue its discussion today.

The meeting was the third in a series in which Republicans are examining fiscal reform proposals in detail in an effort to reach a majority position prior to considering Gov. George Romney's income tax bills.

Senate Taxation Committee Chairman Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, said most Republicans seemed to favor Romney's proposed state payment of 10 per cent of all local property tax bills.

However, some senators favored adjustment of the percentage figure to provide more relief for individual property tax payers than for corporations, DeMaso said.

Lockwood and DeMaso said the plans, drawn up by DeMaso specifically for discussion in the caucus, included:

—Gov. Romney's proposal for local collection of 90 per cent of the property taxes with the state paying the additional 10 per cent.

—Allowing taxpayers a property tax credit against any state income tax.

—Allowing 100 per cent collection of real and personal property taxes at the local level with an additional 10 per cent being added by the state—giving local governments 110 per cent.

—Leaving property taxes as they are now, with no rebate.

—A larger tax rebate or credit giving a greater percentage to individuals and less to corporations.

—A rebate or credit only on real property taxes instead of real and personal property taxes.

The Republicans, who began their fiscal reform caucuses Monday, also planned to take up proposed sales tax credits today, winding up Thursday with a discussion of an income tax rate schedule.

Lockwood said he was sorry that minority Democrats were not holding caucuses of their own on fiscal reform.

"I understood there was some sentiment among the Democrats that they caucus at the same time and we present our positions (on fiscal reform) together," he said. "But I can't force them to caucus."

Phantom Sniper Seeks Freedom

IONIA (AP)—Gary Addison Taylor must wait a week or so before learning whether he is to go free from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane or remain in confinement.

The habeas corpus hearing for Taylor, 30, onetime "phantom sniper of Royal Oak," ended Wednesday night. Circuit Court Judge Leo Bebeau said he would rule within a week or 10 days.

Taylor, confined since 1958 as a sexual psychopath except for one brief interval, contends he is cured and seeks his liberty.

Expert opinion disagreed on Taylor's condition over a period of two days of a hearing before Bebeau.

Dr. William E. Gordon of Detroit, psychiatrist, testified that Taylor still was mentally ill and not recovered sufficiently to be freed.

The state demands that Taylor be kept confined. An Oakland County court ordered Taylor's confinement because he had fired gunshots at a number of women and girls in Royal Oak. Taylor then was 19 years old. The alleged attacks took place in 1957.

Police Watch Police Station

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Police in Vermont's largest city have decided to put the new police station under surveillance.

Police Chief Arthur Carrozza says continued vandalism at the new building will necessitate closer monitoring of the area by patrolmen.

Vandals have been breaking the windows of the new police station as fast as they are installed.

Russo Declares Oswald Beatnik

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—Whiskers for Lee Harvey Oswald and some tough questions haunted the Kennedy assassination conspiracy case against Clay L. Shaw today.

Perry R. Russo, 25, the insurance salesman turned star witness, remained on the hot gridle of cross-examination at the preliminary hearing on whether Shaw must go to trial.

Shaw, 54, a wealthy retired executive, chain-smoked and watched impassively as his lawyers tried Wednesday to destroy Russo's credibility.

Why did Russo wait three years to tell authorities about an alleged conspiracy to kill President John F. Kennedy? the defense attorney, F. Irvin Dymond, asked.

Why didn't Russo recognize Lee Harvey Oswald, the one-time New Orleans resident named as the assassin, from television and newspaper photographs shown at the time? Dymond asked.

Russo, of Baton Rouge, had told the three-judge criminal District Court panel he was present in mid-September 1963 when Shaw, Oswald and David W. Ferrie plotted to kill the President.

Kennedy was shot about two months later in Dallas. Shaw, looked but not formally charged with conspiracy to murder, has said he never knew Oswald or Ferrie. Free under $10,000 bond, he is the only man of the three named by Russo still living.

In a special meeting Wednesday night, the Trustees by a 6-1 vote affirmed the judgment of its planning consultants and designated a 133-acre tract of City of Escanaba land near the north city limits as the future site for the college.

Daverman Associates, Inc., had recommended the area along U. S. 2 and 41 and bounded on the south by the new Danforth Rd. as the top site from seven considered.

Hopes are now that the legislature will appropriate this year some $250,000 in state money to permit immediate advancement of plans for development of the site and construction of the first college building in the new area.

With its current facilities in the old Escanaba High School taxed by growing involvement, the college hopes to occupy the new building by the fall of 1968.

First building would be a Please Turn To Page 10, Col. 7

Russo, a darkly intense man, agreed under cross-examination that he must have seen photographs of Oswald many times since the assassination.

"What finally succeeded in making you sure that Lee Harvey Oswald and Ferrie's roommate were one and the same?" demanded Dymond.

Russo said the pictures he had seen were of a neat Oswald, whereas the "Leon Oswald" he had seen at Ferrie's cluttered apartment "was half shaven, his hair matted. He was a beatnik."

Red Guns Hurt 38 Yanks; Hit Four Aircraft

SAIGON (AP)—Communist mortar attacks raked seven American and Vietnamese positions Wednesday night and today while Red gunners brought down three U.S. warplanes and one helicopter in North and South Vietnam.

Official spokesmen said nine Vietnamese civilians were killed in the mortar attacks. 38 U.S. soldiers were wounded and there were "heavy" casualties at a few isolated Vietnamese outposts.

Two American pilots were missing in the plane crashes while the third parachuted into the South China Sea and was rescued five minutes later by a helicopter.

One South Vietnamese pacification unit of about 50 men was hit hard in the delta.

The civilian dead and wounded included a number of women and children.

One Communist mortar attack also brought down a U.S. helicopter attempting to land at a highland clearing near Pleiku. U.S. casualties were not known yet in Saigon.

The mortar attacks followed the current Communist pattern of inflicting maximum casualties with long-range shelling and avoiding ground battle except where success seemed likely.

The weekly casualty toll announced by U.S. authorities reflected the Communist tactics, listing 175 U.S. dead and 862 wounded last week.

The weekly summary put the Communist death toll at 1,407 last week, somewhat lower than average.

House Rejects 'Guest Rider' Act Repealer

LANSING (AP)—The House Wednesday defeated a bill for the first time this year, rejecting a measure that would have repealed Michigan's "guest passenger act."

House members also easily defeated an attempt to reconsider the vote by which they gave immediate effect to a bill exempting Michigan from Daylight Saving Time. Wednesday's action allowed the bill to go back to the Senate.

On the calendar for today was one bill involving implied consent in drunken driving cases and another permitting a delay in implementing the state Medicaid program.

The guest passenger act would have exempted a driver from damages suffered by a nonpaying passenger in his car unless the driver was guilty of "gross negligence or wilful and wanton misconduct."

Members favoring repeal of the act noted a negligent driver currently can avoid paying damages suffered by his passengers.

Beest Insurance Cost

If a driver transporting his neighbor's car negligently causes injury to the animal, noted Rep. Thomas Brown, R-Lansing, the owner can sue and collect damages. But if the neighbor himself is crippled in a similar accident, he cannot collect from the driver.

Opponents of repeal said it would increase liability insurance rates and would make people unwilling to give others a ride.

The repealer, sponsored by

Oak Park Democrat Daniel Cooper, was defeated 60-31.

The House passed the time bill Tuesday but kept possession of it after Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, served notice he would ask for a reconsideration of the vote on passage.

Kowalski did not make the request Wednesday, but Rep. Dale Kildee did move to reconsider the vote by which the bill was given immediate effect. Kildee's motion lost, 29-72.

When the House adjourned, the bill was returned to the Senate which has passed it but has not given it immediate effect.

Debate Implied Consent

Unless the measure gets immediate effect, requiring a 2-3 vote in the Senate, and is signed by the governor before April 1, the state will go on Daylight Saving Time April 30 under a 1966 federal law.

The implied consent bill, up for debate today, provides that a person arrested for drunken driving who refuses chemical tests may have his license suspended. The refusal could be used in court against him.

The Medicaid bill would in effect legalize Gov. George Romney's order of last year that full implementation of the program, providing medical aid to the poor, be delayed.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley ruled Romney did not have the power to order the delay and said only legislative action to amend the 1966 Medicaid Act could accomplish that. The Senate has passed the amendment.

Pacification Big Task For Diplomat Bunker

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is sending his top crisis diplomat, 72-year-old Ellsworth Bunker, to Vietnam to replace retiring ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Bunker's immediate task will be to assure success of efforts already under way to form a new, constitutional South Vietnamese government.

The Lodge resignation and Bunker appointment, suddenly announced by Johnson Wednesday, were the most important changes in a far reaching shake-up of the U.S. Embassy staff in Saigon. No changeover date was announced, however.

Reck Stability

The overhaul reportedly reflects a determination by the President to put new emphasis on trying to develop political stability in the South Vietnamese capital and to step up pacification of the war-ravaged countryside. Johnson is reported to consider both as vital fronts in the fight to defeat Communist conquest of the South.

Almost as Johnson talked, there were reports from Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin and United Nations sources of fresh peace initiative.

Washington sources said they were aware of these developments but that no indication of change in Hanoi's policy had been received.

Johnson also announced that Gen. William C. Westmoreland's military command will be strengthened by "additional top flight military personnel—the best that the country has been able to provide." He promised intensive ground operations in the months ahead.

Promote Westmoreland

There is continuing speculation here that Westmoreland may be given a new Southeast Asia theater command, but Johnson made no mention of any such change in the course of his announcements during a speech at Nashville, Tenn.

The President is scheduled to fly to Guam, leaving Washington Saturday night, for a Vietnamese war conference which will bring together Bunker, Lodge, Westmoreland and other U.S. leaders involved in the conflict. South Vietnamese leaders including Premier Nguyen Cao Ky will also attend.

Despite details from various official sources, Ambassador Lodge is known to have been interested for some months in relinquishing the Saigon post as soon as the President could find a replacement. He began his present tour of duty as ambassador in South Vietnam in August 1965. He had previously held the post from August 1963 to June 1964.

Dairy Industry In U.P. Reports No Action Yet

The uncertainty about the result nationally of a milk withholding action ordered late yesterday by the National Farmers Organization was reflected in the Upper Peninsula's dairy activities today.

In Escanaba Louis Weiland, local manager of Bancroft Dairy, said that no evidence of milk withholding by the big dairy firm's suppliers had been reported to him.

At Carney, where Frigo Brothers operate a foreign type cheese plant managed by Lloyd Benson, it was reported that the milk pickup trucks were on their routes and that any withholding would not be reported until the trucks return this afternoon.

These are two typical Upper Peninsula dairy operations, Bancroft in the bottled milk and dairy products business, and Frigo in the cheese manufacture business.

NFO In Michigan

Michigan Milk Producers Association is the bargaining agent for most Upper Peninsula dairy farmers, with a smaller number as members of the Pure Milk Association of Wisconsin. Both of these cooperatives back the conventional economics of the dairy industry, which is regulated by price bargaining by marketing cooperatives like Michigan Milk Producers Association and by federal milk marketing orders administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The National Farmers Organization (NFO) whose directors meeting in Corning, Iowa, yesterday called the milk withholding strike in a 25-state area extending from New York to Idaho and including Michigan and Wisconsin, has favored direct strike action to force up farm product prices.

Ask Added Dollar

Charles King, NFO publicity chairman in Michigan, said today at Owosso "My milk is going to stay in the tank." He milks 21 cows and supplies about 700 pounds of milk a day. The effort he supports aims to boost the milk price to farmers about 2 cents a quart.

Michigan dairy farmers' downstate receive about $5.53 a hundredweight (48.5 quarts) for their milk and the NFO wants to boost this price $1.

NFO leaders decline to reveal the number of members of their organization, which aims to negotiate contracts to guarantee a price for milk, meat and other farm commodities. Their complaint is that when farmers shop they must pay the price marked on the item, but that when they sell their farm products to processors they have to ask "What will you pay?"

The NFO challenged the Michigan Milk Producers Association to a public discussion of the issue of milk pricing, at which they are at odds.

Depends On Support

National dairy industry leaders said that the success of NFO in forcing up milk prices by withholding milk from the market will depend upon the support they get from non-NFO farmers who are sympathetic to the effort.

Early assessment by the dairy industry generally downgraded the effect of the withholding and suggested that it's more of a membership drive by the NFO than a holdout. In New York it was expected to have some publicity value but to cause no milk shortage. Elsewhere some dairymen expressed belief that it could snowball into a big withholding or that it could boomerang on the NFO.

U.P. Signage

The NFO membership meeting in Milwaukee last December authorized the directors to order a withholding. Wisconsin dairymen are divided on the issue, which has been discussed at several meetings. Governor Knowles has asked for cool heads. The Wisconsin Farm Bureau has told its county units to confer with district at-

Small Businesses Get Loans, Advice

This article on the UPCA Small Business Development Center tells about three loan recipients — Louis Schuster, Stephenson; Donald Hooper, Iron River; and Harold Plichta, Manistique.

The future looked bleak two years ago for 49-year-old Louis Schuster of Stephenson. A back injury had forced him to give up a 25-year career of farming and logging and put Schuster, his wife and eight children temporarily on the welfare rolls.

But thanks to his own determination to build a new life for himself and his family, a VA rehabilitation course, and a small business loan arranged through the UPCA Small Business Development Center, Schuster now owns and operates his own shoe repair business in downtown Menominee.

"I've always shifted for myself," Schuster said. "So I'm really happy to be on my own again and self-supporting." Schuster's success story began with a near tragedy in 1964 when a tractor he was operating on his 160-acre farm near Stephenson pitched forward and wrenched his back. Schuster spent two months in the hospital with a collapsed spine. He returned home, and upon doctor's orders, sold his cattle and machinery and gave up farming.

Shoe Repair Course
As a former World War II veteran, Schuster qualified for the VA rehabilitation program. After extensive vocational aptitude tests, Schuster enrolled in a shoe repair course at the Milwaukee Vocational and Adult School in February, 1965.

"I never dreamed I'd wind up a shoe repairman," said Schuster. "But once I got along in the course, I learned to like the work."

He completed the two semester course a year ago, and through Herb Cory, Stephenson banker and chairman of the local Menominee County SBDC Committee, he learned of the small business loans available through SBDC and SBA. Schuster received a modest loan in September, 1965, to purchase machinery, stock and lease his present store at 408 10th Ave., Menominee.

Since then business has been so good, Schuster is thinking of expanding his operation to include the sale of men's footwear and ladies casual shoes.

Schuster now has a student apprentice working with him. The young man, coincidentally, also has a back injury and was a student at the Milwaukee Vocational and Adult School. He plans to open his own shoe repair shop in the Upper Peninsula when he has completed his apprenticeship with Schuster.

Pillow Renovator
Donald Hooper, an Iron River businessman who also received a small business loan through SBDC in September, 1966, is owner of Pili-O-Puff, a pillow renovating and manufacturing company.

Hooper was a miner for 10 years before he decided to enroll in North Park College in North Chicago to prepare himself for a career in the ministry. Two years later, Hooper's money ran out and in September, 1964, he and his wife and three boys moved back to the Upper Peninsula.

But rather than looking to the mines for employment, Hooper brought back with him the idea and machinery for his new pillow renovating business.

"I got the idea for my business when I was working in the college dormitories," Hooper explains. "A fellow drove up to the dorm in a small truck. We brought out over 200 pillows and he completely cleaned and renovated them in one day."

Hooper purchased a renovating machine from the company, and bought a truck to transport the machine from customer to customer.

150 Mile Radius
He travels a 150-mile radius from Iron River to service private homes, motels, hotels, hospitals, resorts and other institutions in northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula. His large paneled truck contains the renovating machine and supplies. In just four minutes Hooper cleans and adds filling to the old pillow, recovers it with new ticking, sews it up and has it back in the customer's hands.

Hooper applied for a small business loan in 1966 so he could expand his business to begin manufacturing pillows. While waiting for his loan to come through, Hooper constructed some of the machinery needed to begin this new venture. The loan helped him purchase other required machinery, materials and supplies; he expected to begin production of pillows on a modest scale in late February.

To save money on supplies for his pillows, Hooper came up with the ingenious idea of raising geese to provide down for the stuffing. He and his wife Esther and children recently moved to their newly purchased 62-acre farm located five miles southwest of Iron River. Next spring Hooper plans to raise 500 geese to sell in the fall and then process the down for his new business.

Cherry Craft
Another unique U. P. business aided by a small business loan through the UPCA-SBDC and the SBA is Cherry Craft, owned and operated by a father-son, craftsman-designer team from Manistique.

Harold and Bruce Plichta combine their design and wood-working talents to produce hand made lamps and chandeliers made primarily from native Upper Peninsula butternut and cherrywood.

Harold, a manual arts instructor at Nahma High School, has built many of his own tools and machines used to execute the wood products. Bruce, a graduate of the New York School of Interior Design, left an interior decorating and lamp design career in Denver to return to work with his father in the family business.

Bruce designs the lighting fixtures and operates the store while his father teaches during the day. The elder Plichta spends evenings and weekends in the shop.

All the work is done in a workshop located at the rear of the showroom at 327 Deer St., Manistique.

Loan In 1965
"Everything except the metal is hand produced right here in the shop," said Bruce. "We're striving for high quality products so some of our designs take two full-days to complete."

The elder Plichta secured a small business loan in 1965 to purchase additional machinery and supplies to build his business. He started on a modest scale producing such wood products as bread and cribbage boards and other gift items. The business has expanded now to include some 15 original lamp and chandelier designs.

"The SBDC field man in our area, Paul Harkonen, has also given us a great deal of assistance in marketing and advertising our products," said Bruce. "We recently placed an ad in a national magazine bringing inquiries from throughout the nation."

As in most businesses the rewards are seldom immediate. None of the three businessmen have any illusions about overnight success. "The hardest part, though, about running a small business is to keep hanging on, hoping for the turning point when you begin to show some real profit for all your work," Hooper said.

Receiving the small business loan is just the start," Schuster added. "From then on, it's all up to you to make it a success."

EASTER EGG CHICKENS that lay colored eggs are owned by Mrs. Ernest Vallier. They are of the Araucana breed from Chile and are still very tame. One of Mrs. Vallier's chickens escaped, flew under Mrs. Albert Weldum's auto and perched on the differential for a two and one-half mile ride to a gas station before it could be removed by Paul Johnson of Rock. (Mrs. Albert Weldum Photo)

These Hens Lay Colored Eggs

By MRS. ALBERT WELDUM
ROCK—Would you believe Easter Egg Chickens lay colored eggs? Well, it's true.

Some eggs are blue, others are green, brown, and varying shades of pink to red. Most are pastel blue or green.

The chickens are called Araucanas and in this area of Delta County there are two families raising them.

Mrs. Ernest Vallier, who lives two and one-half miles east of Rock, and Nancy Weldum, my daughter, have some of this unique breed of chickens—the only domestic breed to lay colored eggs.

Came From Chile
I was prompted to write this story after reading the article in the Daily Press about the "little red hen that lays pastel green eggs" in Kentucky.

The owner of that hen was told by someone at the University of Kentucky that to be a chicken egg, it had to be either brown or white.

The first knowledge of this strange fowl came from sailors on the Clipper Ships in the middle 1800's when they returned from trips to South America.

Details are unknown but it is believed they originated in Chile, where the Araucana Indians raised them. One source reports their discovery in 1914. The National Geographic Magazine of April 1927 and March 1930 credits the importation of three Araucanas to Ward Brower Jr. of New York in the fall of 1930.

Law Prohibits Sale
Most Araucanas have one or more of these characteristics: Fluffs, beards, crests, and/or no tails. They vary in color from white to black, or resemble a Rhode Island Red, or are a mixed brownish color. An adult cock averages about 6½ lbs., and a grown hen about 5½ lbs.

These colored eggs cannot be sold in stores because Food Laws prohibits the sale of colored eggs. Yet it states in Stromberg's Hatchery catalog that an Ontario testing laboratory records the protein content of these eggs to be 58.8 per cent while the protein content of white and brown eggs show 48.2 per cent. Thus, the colored eggs are very high in nutritional value.

Mrs. Vallier bought her Araucana chicks from Stromberg several years ago. Last year she hatched chicks from eggs laid by her Araucana hens, and now has 24 such chickens. One cock is white and rumpless, another resembles a Rhode Island Red. Some of the hens are rumpless, some have whiskers.

Won Prize Ribbon
Nancy bought her assorted chicks from Stromberg's a few years back and from Murray McMurray last spring. Some Araucanas were in those orders.

In fact, the little red hen went to the Upper Peninsula State Fair as a Rhode Island pullet the first year. It was only the following year when she began to lay pastel eggs that she was tagged as an Araucana.

Last summer Nancy got another pullet, a cockerel and a bantam cockerel with her assorted chick orders. The bantam, which does not grow over 1½ lbs. was nearly all black with abundant whiskers and beard. The Araucana big cockerel brought home a purple ribbon from the U. P. State Fair for being the best cockerel in the American class. These birds are classified for

Flavor Secrets Search Depends On Human Nose

EAST LANSING (AP)—They have such fancy devices as a gas chromatograph, but scientists studying the secrets of food flavor are finding their best measuring device is the human nose.

Michigan State University scientists are trying to identify how hundreds of chemical compounds make roast beef taste like roast beef and chicken taste like chicken.

Dr. Albert M. Pearson, professor of food science, said the human nose may well be the most sensitive instrument for identifying flavor differences, because aroma is a significant determinant of flavor.

Pearson hopes to discover what accounts for normal meat flavors so scientists can deal with any problems of abnormal flavors.

Such knowledge could make it possible, though not necessarily desirable, to develop a hamburger that tastes like fried chicken.

Pearson said sulphur compounds and carbonyls are the two main classes of flavor compounds in meat. The sulfur compounds, he said, are responsible for the meaty flavor and the carbonyls account for the difference in flavors among different kinds of meat.

The MSU research is supported by government grants.

State Vets Get $229 Millions

Michigan veterans and their families received a total of $229 million in cash benefits and services during fiscal year 1966, the Veterans Administration reported today. This is $8 million more than was distributed in the same programs the preceding year.

In Michigan 123,018 living veterans received service connected disability compensation or non-service pension totaling $114 million. In addition, dependents of 44,359 deceased veterans received $36 million. The combined $151 million last year compared with $143 million in 1965 and reflects increases approved by Congress. Total beneficiaries in 1966 increased from 166,915 in 1965 to 167,375.

Bowden Helps Micronesia

A team of economists headed by Elbert V. Bowden, Ph.D., former Escanaba resident and executive director of UPACAP, recently completed a long-range plan for the economic development of the U. S. Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands.

Dr. Bowden and the other members of his team spent more than a year studying and traveling among the small, widely scattered tropical islands of Micronesia—the Marshalls, Marianas, and Carolines—seeking feasible opportunities for investment and designing programs for improving the development potential.

For the next several months Dr. Bowden and his team will work with the high commissioner, with the members of the recently created Congress of Micronesia, with businessmen, teachers and others to explain, interpret, and begin the implementation of the recommendations of their plan.

Get Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last 40 years have found a way to fast relief from itching and smarting of piles. They use a delightful cooling soothing astringent formula—Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." See all drugists. Be delighted or money back.

at this time because of the approaching plebiscite in which the Micronesians will decide their permanent political future. The some 2,000 tiny islands and their 90,000 inhabitants have been under U. S. control since the islands—some with such famous names as Kwajalein, Saipan, Tinian, Yap, Truk, Palau and others—were occupied by the U. S. Armed Forces in World War II.

Since 1947 the United States has administered the islands under a United Nations trusteeship agreement. But soon the United Nations Trusteeship Council expects the Micronesians to decide whether they prefer independence, a permanent relationship with the United States, or some other permanent political future.

Returning To College
Dr. Bowden, who plans to return to college work this fall, says that he considers his work in Micronesia to be "certainly among the most interesting, challenging, difficult and I hope most significant of my career." His career, in addition to his post as the first executive director of UPACAP, the Upper Peninsula Committee for Area Progress at Escanaba, has included positions as professor and chairman of the Department of Economics at the Norfolk College of William and Mary (now Old Dominion College) in Virginia, professor of economics at Elmira College in New York, economics instructor at Duke University where he received the Ph.D. degree, economic consultant to local governments, to local, state, and federal development agencies, private businesses, and educational institutions. He is the author of one economics book and several reports and monographs in the fields of economics, economic education, the tourist industry, public finance, and economic development. He has taught economics, business, and public administration, and has conducted professional seminars in these fields for the Naval Supply Center, the Antisubmarine Warfare School, and the CINCLANT and SAC-1ant staffs in Norfolk, Va., for the Society of American Travel Writers, the Society of American Business Writers, Virginia Chemicals, Inc., and others.

Plans U. P. Visit

Dr. Bowden, who is now located at Trust Territory headquarters on the island of Saipan, is accompanied by Mrs. Bowden and their five children. They hope for return visit to the Upper Peninsula next summer, following the completion of his work in the Pacific Islands.

The following news release was recently distributed by the High Commissioner of the Trust Territory of the Pacific

Elbert V. Bowden

Islands, and is now receiving national news coverage:

Economic Program

SAIPAN—A set of far-reaching recommendations for stimulating the economic development of Micronesia, encompassed has been transmitted to the Congress of Micronesia by High Commissioner W. R. Norwood. The report was prepared for the Trust Territory under a contract with the Robert A. Nathan Associates, Inc., an internationally-known economic consulting firm. Members of the team of economists who compiled the report, were Dr. E. V. Bowden, chief; James R. Leonard, development economist; and J. Raymond Carpenter, agricultural economist.

Although the report concludes that all is not well in Micronesia, it is not pessimistic and points the way to move toward a viable economy. "It is," Dr. Bowden emphasizes, "not critical, but diagnostic and prescriptive."

The slow rate of economic growth in the Territory is partially attributed to factors inherent in the geography, history and culture of Micronesia. The very nature of the Territory has meant that government direct dollar expenditures and programs have influenced the directions of the economy and have been a drain on the development of the private sector.

Recommendations are made to bring about direct development of this sector. The report states that selected capital, management and labor must be permitted and induced to come from outside the Territory if a significant rate of development is to be possible.

The opening of the Territory to the entrance of both people and capital, according to the report, will be of over-all benefit to the Micronesian people. New people will bring new ideas and create an element of competition from which local business will profit. The arrival of outside capital will create new job opportunities and strengthen the economy in general.

Day For The Irish

St. Patrick's Day is observed in America as though the country believed in fairies. People with Polish names, and Indians, Germans, French, Scandinavians go about with a shamrock in their lapels on March 17. The more tolerant of the Irish—the quarter bloods and eighth bloods and other much diluted Old Micks—take a tolerant view of this and declare that "all the world's Irish on St. Patrick's Day."

It isn't true, of course, but there is a quality in the Irish that catches the world interest. They scrapped so long to achieve home rule that it's supposed to have bred a belligerence into Irish character, but balancing it off is the romantic strain that has given the world the lilt of Irish literature and imagery.

There are more "Irishmen" in the United States than there are in Ireland. There were great migrations of people from the Emerald Isle in the last century during the potato famines. America was the promised land in this exodus and it has greatly enriched our nation, first furnishing us with a lot of policemen and more recently with a lot of politicians.

The Irish are nature's threat against the industrial age. They have a perversity about them that should save us from the machines. Even if an Irishman understands a machine he isn't apt to let it become his master, and some of them keep old ways and are in no hurry even to understand them.

Those who came to America because there were no potatoes for them in Ireland have found much more than sustenance here. They came of an island people who were not subjected to the great civilizing (and destructive) influences of the Roman and Anglo-Saxon invasions which so marked nearby England. St. Patrick, no Irishman, brought them Christian teachings in the fifth century. They suffered under raiding Danes and then under English conquest. They were poor and put-upon and they're still poor, as the world regards abundance today, but they're not impoverished in the spirit and many Americans visit Ireland to be reminded of its contributions to the human spirit. And millions who never go to Ireland except in fancy keep it as a sort of green Bali Hai in their romantic dreams.

When the Irish came to the Upper Peninsula they came by way of Canada to work as loggers in our forests and then as immigrants, fleeing the famines, and hoping to better their lot in the New World, where there was land to be bought and where a pioneer people hadn't hardened into a tight social pattern where everyone had a slot and kept it.

Our first Irish were delighted with the ease of land acquisition in Michigan but while some of them stayed on the land, more moved into the growing cities and were succeeded on the land by later immigrants, many of them from the Baltic countries. The U.P. has few "Irish" names like the Lower Peninsula counties of Antrim, Roscommon, Clare, Montmorency, Wexford, and Emmet.

The Upper Peninsula has a Doyle Township in Schoolcraft County named for the late Michael J. Doyle of Menominee, who was the greatest St. Patrick's Day speaker in the history of the Peninsula and who could bring himself to tears recalling the Vale of Avoca, although he was born in Tennessee.

Our Irish used to march on St. Patrick's Day and there were chapters of the Hibernian Society in most of the Peninsula's larger communities, but they are gone like the other national groups; like the Sons of Sweden, the Danish Brotherhood, the Sons of Hermann, the Turn Verein, the Luxemburger Bund, the St. John the Baptist Society, the St. Andrews Society.

There are only about three million people in Ireland and there are almost three times that many in Michigan, most of whom will be claiming to be a bit Irish on St. Patrick's Day. Many of them actually are part Irish because in this great melting pot the Irish have intermarried so much that we no longer consider it strange that we have teutonic colliens named Brunhilde O'Shaughnessy, or Norsk named Sean Samuelson.

Auto Insurance 'Takes' Buyer, Professors Declare

ANN ARBOR — What are consumers getting for all the dollars they must spend for automobile insurance? They are getting taken.

This is the opinion of Prof. Jeffrey O'Connell of the University of Illinois College of Law who, with Prof. Robert E. Keeton of Harvard University Law School, has proposed a "basic protection" plan calling for drastic revision of auto insurance coverage.

O'Connell said the bulk of automobile insurance claims should be paid as fire insurance claims are paid — by one's own insurance company.

Keeton said many in the insurance industry are so blindly attached to the present system that they regard new proposals for reform as part of the problem rather than part of the solution.

"And the trial bar's myopic preoccupation with opposing basic reform," Keeton said, "is even more thoroughly blinding its leaders to the necessity of putting the automobile claims system in order before public tolerance runs out."

Payment, said O'Connell, should be "for one's out-of-pocket loss and without regard to anyone's fault."

"But," he added, "just as fire insurance doesn't cover intentionally burning your house, so one who intentionally injures himself in a traffic accident would not be paid by basic protection insurance."

The traffic victim, O'Connell said, should be paid "without chewing up most of the available money through the expenses of lawyers, insurance companies, and the courts, all of whose talents are so wasted in battling over unrealistically complicated criteria for payment."

According to O'Connell, only if intelligent changes are made soon can the present system of state-supervised private auto insurance be preserved.

"Already Congress is investigating some of the grosser and more obvious evils of automobile insurance," he said. As in the case of medical insurance for the aged, "the gross inadequacies of automobile insurance are sure to be corrected by legislation."

He warned that unrealistic commitment to the present system might result in a drastic government solution built on Social Security that would "sweep aside the objections, and perhaps the interests, of the bar and the insurance industry."

The fundamental difficulty with the present system, said O'Connell, is that you can be paid after an accident only by making a claim against the other driver's insurance company. You must allege that it was all his fault and you were blameless. Your claim must also be "for a completely uncertain amount that includes not only out-of-pocket loss but payment for pain and suffering — whatever that is 'worth' in money."

The result is that "all traffic claims today are dominated by attitudes of distrust and even outright hostility accompanying any negligence lawsuit."

"The result, in turn, is that for a long time automobile accident cases have been clogging our courts, delaying and

WORDS

True Christians believe all words of their Bible is full truth in print. Will they believe these words printed in the Bible?

"Thus this world will end, by fire, at end of the 20th century." That exact date is Jan. 1, 2100 and exactly 183 years from now.

"If this isn't true, why would it be in the Bible? It doesn't worry anyone now, but just think, many babies born 30 or 40 years from now will be living on Jan. 21, 2100.

It's the day the Lord, the mighty God, Jehovah, said the world will come to an end by fire.

God's words will not scare a true Christian, for a true Christian puts his trust in Jehovah, the mighty Lord God, in Heaven.

Genesee Power Shifts To Flint

FLINT (AP) — The city of Flint apparently will have more than half the representation on the Genesee County Board of Supervisors beginning in 1969 as the result of action taken this week by the Genesee County Appointments Commission. The commission indicated it will use 1960 census figures to map out districts, which would give Flint 1877.

Today's hand broke up a recent expert set match at Alvin Roth's Mayfair Club in New York. When the hand was over everyone was mad at his partner.

West's two-spade bid was one of those weak jump overcalls designed to crowd the opponent's bidding. North would have liked to double but North was using one of those special expert gadgets. His double would be for takeout, not business. South tried a three-heart bid and eventually would up at five clubs doubled.

East put his ace of diamonds on dummy's king, after he thought while he decided that West had opened a singleton and returned the suit. South discarded his losing spade on dummy's queen and led dummy's jack of hearts. East ducked and the jack held. The deuce of hearts was played next and when East played the six, South stuck in his nine.

West ruffed and led a diamond, whereupon South ruffed, drew trumps with two leads, cashed his ace of hearts, ruffed a heart and claimed his contract.

East had not played like an expert. In fact, it would be difficult to find a player who would have played quite as poorly and West proceeded to tell this to East. East's only defense was to say that West had played badly all evening.

North and South collected their winnings but weren't happy with anything about the hand except the result. North wanted to know why South hadn't let him play three no-trump. South pointed out that a diamond opening would have beaten three no-trump several tricks.

South wanted to know why North hadn't passed four clubs. North wanted to know why South hadn't bid four hearts and the argument went on and on.

Ann Landers Success Requires Continuing Search

Dear Ann Landers: Every now and then you hit me between the eyes. You did it again yesterday when you wrote: "Some people get nothing out of therapy but big doctor bills. Others find a whole new life."

Can you tell me why this is so? I went to a psychiatrist for three months and could see no sign of progress. When I told the doctor how discouraged I was he said my attitude toward the sessions was poor and he could do nothing more for me. So I stopped going.

Now I feel I have failed again. Please tell me, Ann, why does therapy work for some people and not for others?—A LANDERS FAN

Dear Fan: Everywhere we look we find mediocrity—and less. This goes for lawyers, carpenters, hairdressers, surgeons, writers, artists, stenographers—the list is endless. Why then expect all psychiatrists to be splendid? I can tell you they are not.

Moreover, it is unrealistic to assume that every psychiatrist will click with every patient. A psychiatrist is a human being with aggressions and irritabilities and, yes—problems. If he is a competent therapist he will recognize the patients with whom he cannot establish a good relationship and turn them over to a colleague.

Your psychiatrist should not have let you go without giving some clue as to why you produce such a sense of hopelessness in other people (including him). My advice is to try another therapist. I have known individuals who did poorly with the first two psychiatrists but the third one produced the miracle.

Dear Ann Landers: What can a mother do when she sees her fourteen-year-old daughter making the same mistakes she made when she was fourteen? Marnie was born out of wedlock. I was a wild, unmanageable runabout who got into every kind of trouble you can name. I wouldn't listen to anybody. I was terribly lucky to meet a saint of a man who loved me enough to forgive my past. I hope and pray Marnie will be as lucky as I was, but until she settles down I am afraid I'll lose my mind.

Your psychiatrist should not have let you go without giving some clue as to why you produce such a sense of hopelessness in other people (including him). My advice is to try another therapist. I have known individuals who did poorly with the first two psychiatrists but the third one produced the miracle.

Dear Ann Landers: What can a mother do when she sees her fourteen-year-old daughter making the same mistakes she made when she was fourteen? Marnie was born out of wedlock. I was a wild, unmanageable runabout who got into every kind of trouble you can name. I wouldn't listen to anybody. I was terribly lucky to meet a saint of a man who loved me enough to forgive my past. I hope and pray Marnie will be as lucky as I was, but until she settles down I am afraid I'll lose my mind.

Moreover, it is unrealistic to assume that every psychiatrist will click with every patient. A psychiatrist is a human being with aggressions and irritabilities and, yes—problems. If he is a competent therapist he will recognize the patients with whom he cannot establish a good relationship and turn them over to a colleague.

Tourism Development Action Is Proposed

The delegate body quarterly meeting of UPACAP scheduled at The Surf, Manistique for Tuesday, March 21 will receive a recommendation that UPACAP help set up the framework for a permanent Upper Peninsula-wide tourism development group.

The action would be first step toward implementation of the proposal for the creation of a series of recreational complexes across the U.P. to attract more tourists to the area by giving them more to see and do.

The tourism development plan came out of several years of work in a project sponsored by UPACAP's Committee on Tourism and financed by the Economic Development Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce and Michigan State University, which conducted the study under the leadership of its Dr. Uel Blank and Dr. Clare A. Gunn and the consulting firm of Johnson, Johnson & Roy, Inc.

The attractions would include gateway parks, historic restorations like fur stations and Indian villages, marinas, scenic tours, water cruises, interpretations of Indian lore and history, mining and lumbering facilities, resorts, second home subdivisions, fish towns, guided hunting and fishing, farm recreation, and other things.

What Next?

After presentation of the MSU study at Iahpeming on Jan. 31 by President John A. Hannah of MSU and Prof. Henry O. Barbour, head of the MSU School of Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Management, the implementation of the program became a U.P. question. It was discussed by UPACAP (Upper Peninsula Committee For Area Progress), by the Upper Michigan Tourist Association which cooperated in it, the Field Services Committee of the four universities serving the U.P. and other agencies.

A subcommittee on tourism of UPACAP has recommended by the Economic Planning and Development Committee of UPACAP that the UPACAP delegate body in Manistique on March 21 call a U.P. conference of persons interested in creating an interim group to set up a U.P. tourism development agency.

The subcommittee suggested that the delegate body should evaluate at that time the proposals submitted to UPACAP by various consultants on the development of specific recreational complexes.

Tourism Group

The tourism subcommittee was composed of UPACAP Chairman Harold Dettman of St. Ignace; Rev. Fr. Louis Cappe, Hubbell, chairman of the EDA Advisory Committee; William Wilson, Marquette, executive director of Operation Action - U.P.; Ray Gummerson, Marquette, MSU regional resource development agent; and Tom Angell, Iron River, EDA representative in the U.P.

The Economic Development and Planning Committee urged UPACAP to call a conference and include UPACAP, UMTA, Operation Action, Forum on Resources of Upper Michigan, educational institutions, industries, commercial interests and government agencies.

The committee suggested that local areas identify their own local needs and set their own priorities in tourism developments and it urged review of such efforts as:

The Tri-Centennial at Sault Ste. Marie, Luce County lumber attractions complex, Alger resort complex, Sylvan project, Manistique Retirement Home, Copper Peak sky flying hill project, Gogebic County, Quincy Mine Hotel at Hancock, Gateway Park at St. Ignace, Great Lakes Marina at Menominee.

Cows Continue State Decline

EAST LANSING—The mid-March market report from John Ferris, commodities economist at Michigan State University, shows a continued downward trend in milk cow numbers; a possible increase in beef and hog prices; and a further decline in egg prices.

Milk cow numbers dropped by 8 per cent in Michigan in 1966, compared with a 6 per cent decline in 1965 and an average 3 per cent drop per year from 1960 to 1964. The Federal-State Statistical Reporting Service estimates that replacement dairy stock on Michigan farms declined by 7 per cent in 1966. This points to some difficulty in obtaining replacement heifers within Michigan, and further shows that the response to higher milk prices will be relatively slow in Michigan.

Too many heavy cattle and a large hog slaughter have kept pressure on cattle prices this past winter. Once these heavy cattle have been worked off, a stronger market can be achieved. Hog slaughter should decline seasonally into late spring and fed beef usually enjoys a little stronger demand in mid to late summer.

Prices of about 35 cents on grade A large eggs should be maintained until after Easter, when a seasonal decline to the 30-cent level in May and June is expected. In spite of the lower prices, both currently and in prospect, egg production continues to expand. Egg-type chicks hatched during January are estimated to be 10 per cent above the year before, and the trend is expected to continue.

License Asked On Snowsleds

Senator Thomas F. Schweigert (R-Petoskey), whose 37th District probably has more snowmobiles than any other in the State, has introduced a bill to require that the popular new northwoods mode of transportation sport a license.

The bill calls for a license number to be painted or attached to each side of the vehicle "in bold letters of good proportion, not less than three inches in height."

The bill calls for a license fee of $5 for each snowmobile and provides that after payment of handling charges the rest of the fee goes into the state's general fund.

"I am glad to see so many of these popular vehicles in use because they enable Michigan residents to enjoy our woodland and recreation areas," said Sen. Schweigert. "Unfortunately, as with almost all moving vehicles, these snowmobiles have been causing trouble in some areas. We have been receiving an increasing number of complaints in recent weeks of irresponsible snowmobile operators trespassing on private property and often causing damage to plantings, lawns, hedges and other property."

"I have introduced this bill to provide some sort of identification on these vehicles that property owners or persons injured by them may identify them and take action against irresponsible operators."

North Central Plans Jet Route

North Central Airlines will enter the jet age when it inaugurates Convair 580 prop-jet aircraft into scheduled service on April 1.

The first two 580's, which are Convair 440's converted to prop-jets, will serve Eau Claire, Wausau, Stevens Point, Oshkosh, Green Bay, Manitowish, Madison, and Milwaukee; Minneapolis and Duluth, Rapid City, Pierre, Aberdeen, and Watertown, S. D., and Chicago.

On April 30, with the addition of another Convair 580, prop-jet service will be extended to Hibbing and International Falls, Minnesota; La Crosse, Wisconsin; and Port Arthur/Port William, Ontario, Canada.

The airline has a 31-aircraft program underway which calls for the initial conversion of 20 Convairs, with an option on the other 11.

Income tax refunds of 1094 taxpayers in Michigan and four other states in the IRS Central Region are being held up because Form 1040 or 1040A sent in does not contain an accurate Social Security number. Townsend Urges Canada-U.S. Car Treaty Renewal

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler's No. 1 man spoke out strongly in favor of renewal of the American-Canadian auto trade agreement Tuesday night, a few hours after the pact came under attack on the U.S. Senate floor.

Lynn A. Townsend, Chrysler's board chairman, urged at a Windsor, Ont., dinner that the three-year pact which runs out next January, should be extended for three to five years.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., told the Senate Tuesday that the treaty was "monstrous and disastrous" for American workers.

Gore called attention to an earlier statement by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., that the pact had cost the United States 60,000 jobs.

Gore-Hartke, Opposed

"Now," said Gore, "it can be reported that the number of unemployed automobile workers has swelled because of the operation of this agreement."

The two senators long have been opposed to the agreement which provides for duty-free movement of cars and parts across the Canadian-American border.

Gore pointed out the agreement comes up for review next Jan. 1 and he called for a full review, warning:

"Unless action is taken, more thousands of our auto workers will be unemployed."

Chrysler's Townsend took an opposite view of the workings of the treaty, whose sponsors had said it would better auto industry conditions in both the United States and Canada.

Townsend said the current trade pact had been the best solution to the problem of imbalance on the Canadian economy, insofar as autos were concerned.

Eliminate Protectionism

"Our way for Canada to control its growing deficit in automotive trade with the United States would have been to move towards protectionism...either to raise tariffs against imports of auto components or to increase substantially the local content requirement for Canadian automobiles," Townsend said.

He said of the working of the current agreement:

"Before it, Chrysler Canada had to assemble in its plant in Windsor virtually every Chrysler automobile sold in Canada. And Chrysler Canada had to buy or manufacture the majority of parts which went into each automobile."

"As a result, the Chrysler assembly plant in Windsor had to produce nearly 100 models. Our Canadian suppliers, as well as our own component plants, had to work on the basis of low volume and short production runs."

Free Exchange

"Today, because of the tariff free exchange of original equipment parts and motor vehicles made possible by the trade agreement, we produce only two lines of cars at our Windsor plant...the Dodge Polara and Plymouth Fury.

"Over half of these cars move across the Detroit River to the American market while other Chrysler models, sold in Canada, along with many of the components used by our Windsor plant are brought in from the United States. The benefits of this growth will be experienced by people of both our countries in the years ahead."

"But this will be possible only if the trade agreement becomes an established and settled part of our way of doing business," Townsend said.

There was no immediate comment from the other U.S. automakers, but judging by past performance, it would not be surprising to see them standing side by side with Chrysler when the Senate begins debate on the matter later this year.

ABM Fallout Poses Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear physicist says large-scale use by either the United States or the Soviet Union of antiballistic missile defense systems would threaten survival of all inhabitants of the Northern Hemisphere.

But Dr. E.J. Sternglass' contention that mid-air explosions of defensive weapons and incoming missiles would result in massive radioactive fallout was disputed today by another nuclear physicist, Dr. Ralph E. Lapp of Washington, D.C.

Lapp said America's ABM system — and presumably the Soviet Union's — essentially would rule out deposit of lethal quantities of fallout on the earth from the explosion of nuclear-tipped ABMs aloft.

Sternglass, past chairman of the Pittsburgh, Pa., chapter of the Federation of American Scientists, declared: "This danger arises from the great increase in the total amount of radioactive materials which would necessarily be released into the atmosphere by the multistage ABM missiles required to destroy the incoming warheads."

Lapp, who worked on the wartime A-bomb development but is not now associated with the government's nuclear program, told a reporter he believes Sternglass' view is based on an incorrect interpretation of how radioactive debris — released by an exploding ABM — would be deposited.

He said Sternglass was assuming incorrectly that the defensive explosions all would take place at comparatively low altitudes in the atmosphere — thus depositing relatively large quantities of fallout on the earth, and relatively quickly. Lapp also indicated he felt Sternglass was applying to high-explosive missiles fallout data gleaned from nuclear bursts at comparatively low altitudes.

Debt To Grow With Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Savor for a moment the figure $1,329,700,000,000.

That's trillion, not billion, and the Treasury Department says it represents total outstanding debt—federal, individual, state, local and corporate—as of last Dec. 31. The total increased $69.1 billion in one year.

The department says there is even more to come, at least as far as the federal government is concerned.

In testimony made public Tuesday night by the House Appropriations Committee, Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said the government will continue to run deficits at least until the end of the Vietnam war. That means higher debt.

Although the national debt is now slightly above $330 billion, the department plans to ask Congress in May to raise the debt ceiling again, possibly as high as $346 billion. It now is $336 billion.

Asked by Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., if the administration will ever recommend a balanced budget, Fowler replied: "I do, Mr. Chairman, believe that there will be administrations that will recommend balanced budgets."

"Indeed, I would be so bold as to say that I believe there will be administrations that will recommend budgets which will provide for surpluses and some reduction of the federal debt."

Fowler said that time would probably come after the Vietnam war and the subsequent adjustment period when the economy returns to normal.

Women's Activities

Dieting Is 'No Fun,' Says Peggy, Minus 5

By PEGGY BRYSON

Here I am—not quite skinny Minnie—but I am five pounds lighter than last week! (Aren't success stories wonderful?)

However, don't think it hasn't been miserable, because it has! And to think I have 15 pounds more to lose. As with most people who are dieting, all I think and dream about is food. Even certain dishes I never particularly cared for before sound yummy.

But it's "no-no" to potatoes, bread and desserts and I must admit I never realized before how much of those foods I ate. There is also a rule for me not to eat between meals, once again I discovered how much I did this.

For example, while baking a cake, I used to lick the beaters and spoons, pop in a few walnuts or marshmallows I was cutting and of course scrape the frosting bowl. Put it all together and that's a lot of calories, not to mention the finished product.

Husband Gains
Or, while clearing dinner dishes, rather than throw away a leftover potato, corn or meat . . . you guessed it . . . the human garbage can strikes again!

So far I've done real well during the day but the acid test comes in the evening while sitting in front of the T. V., reading, playing cards, etc. I've almost considered wearing a straight jacket I get so tempted!

As I told you last week, my husband Dick is trying to gain weight. He'd like to weigh about 195 . . . so far he's gone from 173 to 185 pounds. The weight gain is thanks to things like a chocolate sundae topped with peanuts eaten with a piece of chocolate cake for dessert or a bowl of peanuts or popcorn with a malt as an evening snack.

Just to give you an idea, take last night's dinner, (one of our favorites) Italian spa-getti, garlic bread, etc.). There he sat with a Paul Bunyan type serving as I enjoyed my cottage cheese, broccoli, and plain old hamburger, salvaged from the meat sauce.

See Doctor First

If stock was sold on celery and cottage cheese I'd recommend all you investors to buy now because I've cornered the market. In fact my little girl is worried the Easter Bunny will pass us by because I won't share my rabbit food. After all, that's about all I eat.

I've received many phone calls of encouragement and I guess many of you are going to see if you too can lose weight with me. Everyone's welcome aboard the "trim train". If I might give one important bit of advice for those who are trying to lose weight—please see your physician before trying any diet. There are so many fad diets and gimmicks available that a doctor really should be consulted before trying any "sure thing".

No size 12 is worth risking your health.

One other note, if you DO want to lose weight, as far as I'm concerned the only really "sure thing" in losing weight is will power. Make up your mind and mean it. Don't say you'll wait until tomorrow.

I'll report back next week with luck a slimmer version of the same old me.

Celebrate With St. Patrick's Day Pie

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A light and airy pie, with the flavor of spring and a shamrock on top, is perfect for the St. Patrick's Day festivities, and it's easy to make. As the pie filling mix and gelatin are cooked together, there is no separate step of dissolving gelatin. After this mixture is chilled until it begins to set—about 30 minutes—just fold in prepared whipped topping and turn it into a crumb crust. The prepared whipped topping provides the airiness characteristic of a chiffon pie. Save a little of the prepared whipped topping to outline a shamrock on top of the pie.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PIE
1 package (3 1/2 oz.) pineapple cream pudding and pie filling
1 package (3 oz.) lime flavor gelatin
2 1/2 cups water
1 envelope whipped topping mix
1 baked 9-inch crumb crust, cooled

Combine pie filling mix, gelatin and water in a sauce-pan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil, and is thick and clear. Remove from heat. Chill until mixture begins to set.

Prepare whipped topping mix as directed on package; reserve 1/2-cup prepared topping for garnish. Thoroughly blend re-

Steak And Oyster An Irish Dish

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A friend just back from Dublin reports on a steak and oyster dish enjoyed in that stately city. She says it's a very popular Irish specialty and suggests we feature it for St. Patrick's Day.

So, with a shamrock in one hand, and a green pen in the other, here goes:

Use flavored cutlet steaks cut from top sirloin or thinly cut steaks from the eye of the round or bottom of the sirloin; these are often called breakfast steaks. Do not overcook.

The "Blarney stones" are oysters, crumb-coated and cooked in butter and served atop each steak. The tasty sauce made from the beef and oyster pan drippings gets spooned on last. Serve on toast with shamrock skewers and chopped parsley. Irish coffee, of course, is the beverage of the day.

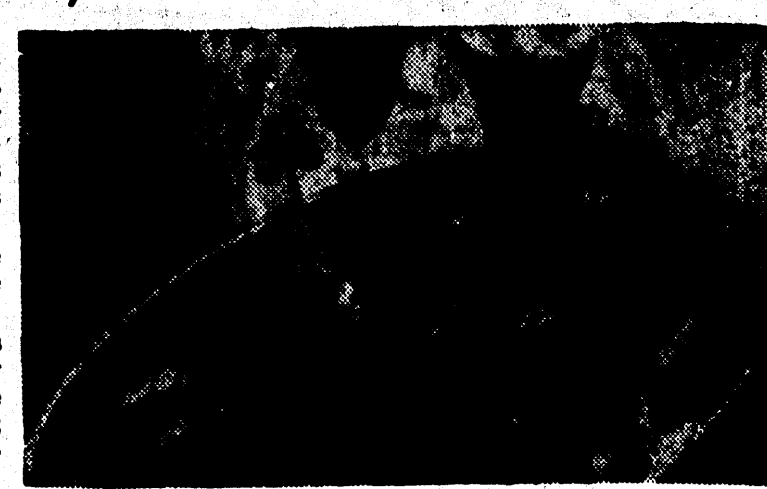

BREAKFAST STEAKS 'N' BLARNEY STONES

4 cutlet steaks (4 to 5 ounces each)
Salt
Pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 drops liquid red pepper seasoning
1/4 teaspoon cornstarch
1/4 cup water
Fried oysters
4 slices buttered toast
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Season steaks with salt and pepper. Sauté in butter, about 1 minute on each side. Remove from skillet and keep hot. To drippings add Worcestershire sauce, red pepper seasoning and cornstarch mixed with cold water. Cook stirring, until slightly thickened. Strain butter remaining from frying oysters into beef sauce. Set steaks on buttered toast, top with oysters and spoon small amount of sauce over each. Sprinkle with parsley. Four servings.

FRIED OYSTERS: Dip 12 medium-sized or 16 small oysters in flour, then in lightly beaten egg, then in fine dry bread crumbs or cornflake crumbs. Cook in 2 tablespoons butter about 3 minutes until browned.

Mosquito Costly

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The pesky mosquito, sometimes a carrier of diseases, but more often just a plain irritant, will cost the American taxpayer at least $50 million this year.

Dr. Harry D. Pratt, of the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, Ga., said Wednesday the $50 million will be spent on research, eradication and control of the mosquito.

He said that federal, state and local governments soon would be spending a total of $100 million annually for expanded programs.

Family Homeless After Fire

An Escanaba family, the Lawrence Boudreau of 316 S. 17th St., lost all of their personal possessions in a fire that extensively damaged their home Wednesday afternoon.

The Boudreaus, parents of five children, are staying temporarily with relatives. Their home and its contents were uninsured.

Firemen received the alarm at 4:35 p. m. and Fire Chief Palmer Derouin said that when they arrived flames were pouring out of a front window. The fire had gained such headway that it was not quickly controlled.

Mrs. Boudreau and her youngest child were at home at the time the fire was noticed. Officers said it is possible the fire may have started from the child playing with a cigarette lighter, although the possibility of defective wiring is not being overlooked. Mrs. Boudreau was in the kitchen when she discovered the smoke coming from an adjoining room.

The Red Cross appealed for clothing and household furnishings for the family it said has "lost everything" in the blaze.

Needed is clothing for the children: A boy, clothing size 16, shoes 6½; girl age 14, clothing size 12, shoes size 7½, and in need of a St. Anne uniform; boy, clothing size 12, shoes 4½, boy, clothing size 10, shoes size 3; and the baby boy, clothing size 2½ and shoes size 7.

Mr. Boudreau wears trousers 30-29, shirt 14½ and shoes 6½; and Mrs. Boudreau needs clothing size 16 and shoes size 6½.

FIRE AND SMOKE extensively damaged the interior of the Lawrence Boudreau home at 316 S. 17th St. Wednesday afternoon. The family of seven (they have four boys and a girl) are staying with relatives temporarily. The loss was uninsured and the family "needs everything," the Red Cross reports. (Daily Press Photo)

Felons Tie Up Teacher, Pupil

SAGINAW (AP)—One of two fugitives who stole a rural school teacher's car after tying up the teacher and a pupil was captured within hours Wednesday near Saginaw. The second was sought.

Saginaw County sheriff's men said 19-year-old William Donaldson, armed with a knife, was taken into custody at a bar in St. Charles, nine miles south of Saginaw.

The car was recovered and Donaldson's companion, Jeff Toner, 22, was sought. Authorities said Donaldson and Toner, who walked away from the Michigan State Reformatory at Ionia Tuesday night, stole the car of Eileen De Pue, 26, a teacher at the two-room Chittie School at Long Lake, near Ionia.

Before continuing their flight, Donaldson and Toner tied up Miss De Pue and a boy pupil with electric cord. One of them held a knife to Miss De Pue's back. Neither Miss De Pue nor the boy was harmed.

Donaldson gave up at the St. Charles bar without resistance, officers said.

Donaldson, sentenced from Saginaw County to 1½-2 years for car theft, was held at the Saginaw County jail. Toner was serving 3½-15 years for breaking and entering in Bay County.

Fireman Injured By 12-Ton Truck

Lt. Edsel Bedard of the Escanaba Fire Department is counting his toes today in St. Francis Hospital and is grateful that he has all 10 of them.

A 12-ton truck rolled over his left leg and foot when the firemen were returning from a call and were backing the truck into the City Hall station about 2:45 p. m. Wednesday.

The call was from a woman who had locked herself out of her home in the 500 block, Ludington St., and needed the firemen with their ladder to gain entry through a second floor window.

Lt. Bedard in getting off the truck in front of the station was tripped and pulled beneath the truck wheel when a piece of his clothing caught on the truck. The right front wheel of the truck stopped on Bedard's left foot.

After x-ray examination, Bedard, 40, of 307 S. 8th St., was told that the bone in the tip of his big toe was fractured. "The doctor said we either have light equipment or men with tough legs," Fire Chief Palmer Derouin reported.

The truck is far from a light one. It weighs 12 tons and the load on the front axle would be about 37 per cent of the total weight, said the chief.

Lt. Bedard, who has been with the fire department for 16 years, is not the only fireman patient in the hospital.

The other is Capt. Duwaine Hanson who suffered a back injury while working at the North Escanaba Fire Station about three weeks ago. He is in traction as part of his treatment and hopefully will be discharged soon — except that he is now also suffering from pneumonia, Chief Derouin reported.

District Planning One High School

GARDEN — The Board of Education of the Big Bay de Noc School District has voted unanimously to operate only one high school next year.

Supt. Larry Lundell said this means that Cooks, Garden, Fairbanks and Nahma High School students will be placed in one building, located at either the Cooks or Nahma School. The board will make a further study to determine which school building will be more suitable for a high school, he said.

When the high school is selected, the other school will become an elementary school along with the Garden School. The Mud Lake School will be closed down and the students transported to the Garden School.

tageous towards a better educational system for both elementary and high school students," said Lundell. "By going to this system there will be one teacher for each elementary grade; therefore, eliminating the present method of two grades per teacher.

"High school students will be offered a better curriculum with a wider variety of classes from which to choose. This will not only provide a better education for our students, but it will eliminate the cost of operating one additional grade school and we will be able to do this with approximately four less teachers," he said.

Consolidation of the four districts was voted by the people of the area in a reorganization election last summer.

Corn Going To Hungry Deer

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan conservationists are hauling 6,000 bushels of government-owned corn to Northern Michigan in an emergency program to help bring the state's deer herd through the winter.

The Michigan Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service said the corn is being provided at no cost to conservation clubs, as long as they pick it up at Nahma and deliver it to the deer areas.

Another 3,000 bushels has been requested, the service reported.

It said the Porterfield Conservation Club picked up the first load of corn Monday and took it to the Mio area, where it has been feeding about 75 deer all winter.

Another 3,000 bushels stored in Wisconsin has been made available for use in the Western Upper Peninsula, it said.

Deep snow in north woods still is keeping deer from moving around to search for their own food, the service said.

Garden Peninsula

The Garden Eager Beaver 4-H club entertained the Delta County Junior leaders at the St. Johns hall, March 11. Attending were 20 Junior leaders and 7 leaders.

At the business meeting plans were discussed for the Delta County Achievement Day to be held in Escanaba, April 1. The theme is to be "It's a Small World." The Garden 4-H club is in charge of the opening ceremony.

Leslie Rasmussen volunteered to be on a committee to meet with Art Vassold to decide on what each individual club could do to help with local worthy causes such as Newberry State Hospital. Mrs. Leslie Bouschor of Manistiquie led the Junior leaders in games and square dances.

Mrs. Oatis Smith of Fayette is visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. D. Kauten, in Flint.

EAST LANSING (AP) — One-half of Michigan's farmers will be in some other job by 1980, but those left in farming will be producing more food from less land, agricultural economists say. Michigan State University economists say farm numbers in Michigan dropped from 112,000 in 1959 to 83,000 in 1964 and are expected to drop to 45,000 by 1980.

Funds Next Need For Bay College

classroom structure, housing laboratory facilities for its science curriculum and also some administrative offices. The building would be used in connection with the present college.

Indications are that the building would cost between $400,000 and $500,000, depending on exactly which facilities the college board elects to incorporate into its design.

Eventually, the college probably will develop some dormitory facilities, other classroom buildings and a student recreation center at its new site.

The state could provide up to 50 per cent of the cost of new facilities with the rest coming from local sources. Under Michigan law, the college has the power to raise up to 1½ per cent of the college district's valuation to finance a bond issue without a referendum. On Delta County's valuation of about $80 million, this would net about $1.2 million or any part thereof.

Limit Debate

In making its decision Wednesday, the Board limited debate to the top two sites recommended by the planning consultants—the chosen north Escanaba site and a site of 120 acres west of the Escanaba Area High School.

The third site recommended by the planners of an original seven considered (Saunders Point in Gladstone) was ruled out because it contains only about 40 acres and the college strongly desired 120 acres.

In the final analysis between the two Escanaba locations, Chairman Joseph Heirman said "the big factor" in favor of the north Escanaba site was soil condition.

Soil conditions at the north Escanaba site are excellent for construction purposes, Heirman pointed out, while "there is a very big question mark" about the soil in the west Escanaba location.

Heirman said that the water table in the west Escanaba location is very high and that before the college could build in the area a considerable amount of fill probably would be needed.

Important Point

"To me this was a very important point," he said. "It appeared that the cost of construction at the west site would have been excessive."

Heirman, Michigan State University extension agent from Delta County, said he had made an extensive personal study of the soil in the west area and found that it was not comparable to the soil at the site of the Escanaba Area High School, but instead was of lower quality with a much higher water table. Water drainage at the high school has been a problem.

A suggestion that by choosing the west Escanaba site the college could possibly share library, recreation and athletic facilities with Escanaba and Holy Name High Schools, was rejected by the Board.

Dr. Richard Rinehart, president of the college, said he would "categorically oppose" any shared library facility with the high schools because of the different book collections required.

Faculty Agrees

"A library for community college students should be specifically designed for community college purposes," he said. Rinehart said shared recreation facilities would not cause as much of a problem, but that he still preferred separation.

"Mixing of college and high school students is not good," he said.

The decision of the board concurred with the recommendation of the college faculty. Lone dissenting vote in the 6-1 decision was cast by Trustee Arthur Slaughter. Voting in favor of the north Escanaba site were Charles Follo, Arol Beck, Clayton Ford, Robert Groos, Raymond LaPorte and Heirman.

The City Council has indicated informally that it would be willing to deed to the college the 133-acre site desired for $1 and other considerations.

The Board is seeking deed to 133 acres with permission to use an additional 167 acres contingent to the primary site as an "outdoor laboratory."

The deeding to the college process would involve the Planning Commission, recommendation to rezone the area, public hearing on the rezoning proposal and council action.

Thank Cities

Currently, the site area is zoned industrial and the 133 acres desired by the college includes model homes constructed by American Timber Homes.

John Walbridge, president of American Timber Homes, told the Board Wednesday night that although his firm had considered using about 20 acres near its model homes for a new plant in the near future that the college should come first.

The Board indicated it had no immediate objection to the homes remaining on the site and hoped it could work out an acceptable solution to the apparent conflict of purpose for the land.

The Board moved to send letters of appreciation to both the City of Escanaba and the City of Gladstone for the cooperation extended the college in exploring site possibilities.

MANISTIQUE

School Legal Aid Okayed For Election

The Manistique Area board of education Tuesday night hired the legal firm of Thrun and Thrun to conduct the first school election under reorganization, and received bids on various liability insurances.

The legal aid will cost $150. Under reorganization, the entire district is now a registration district. A meeting was scheduled Wednesday at 3 p. m., by the board to discuss by-laws as proposed by Thrun and Thrun.

A right of way agreement for Great Lakes Gas Transmission Co. to cross the Boy Scout forty along the Indian River was discussed and permission was given for its execution. Board members indicate the company is buying right of way north of the present Lakehead Pipeline. The money from the easement should be directed to the Boy Scouts, members indicated.

John Moffat and Denton Nelson were named from the board to work with E. E. Wuehle and Robert Kanerva in negotiations with certified employees. The Auxiliary Services Employees organization presented information on their requests and a report on negotiations. Another meeting is contemplated with mediation to be sought if it is not successful. The matter was discussed in executive session at the close of the meeting.

Bids were opened on liability insurances and were referred to the business manager for analysis, with decision to be made by a committee of the board.

Following receipt of a high school principal report, the board approved more time for guidance counselling by Elwood Erickson and increased physical education offerings in schools, extending it to townships.

Additional assistance in the business manager office was approved.

A meeting is to be held on the board's budget to be submitted to the allocation board.

Authorization was given to repay the Germantown note of $10,000; use of sick leave credits for advanced study by three teachers was approved, and a request of a teacher to teach one year beyond age 65 was approved. Hiring of Arlen Koufman as a bus driver on a permanent basis was approved. A resolution was adopted approving grants for federal and state programs and Mott programs.

Mrs. Paul Larson was named to the special education committee for the intermediate district.

In discussion on proposed new school site, the board heard a report on negotiations with the city for property it owns in the area. The board indicated the present site is adequate; that the proposed additional area would be a plus factor in planning building location and site utilization. Additional planning reports for the new school were presented from Smith & Smith.

Announcement was made of a community school workshop in Flint and reports were presented on finance, hot lunch, library activity and others.

Indian Lake Still Yielding Walleye Catches

With advent of warmer weather, fishing activity has increased. Fishermen have been asked by the Conservation department to remove fish shanties before ice breakup. Shallow lakes and those with creeks flowing into them will break-up first.

A few northern pike are still being taken in the lower St. Mary's River, including Munuscong Bay, and a few walleye are being taken on Big Manistique Lake and Indian Lake. Walleye season closes March 15.

Yellow perch fishing is generally good throughout the district.

They are taken readily with wigglers, worm larvae, perch eyes and minnows. Good catches are being made on Hulbert Lake, using minnows, perch eyes and small Rapalas. Perch fishing is good on Government and Heasel bays in Les Cheneaux Channels, Millicocquins Lake, Bass and Big Manistique lakes and Indian Lake.

Cisco catches have been good in Whitefish Lake, using small minnows and wigglers. Best results are off Sprang's Point in morning hours.

Fair spearing is reported for herring and whitefish in the upper St. Mary's River and Shallowa off Birch Point. Lake trout, some in the 1 1/2 to 3 pound class are being taken in Lake Superior off Pindilla Creek, bobbing 100-120 feet deep.

Deer Feeding Areas Visited

Indian Lake, Sturgeon Hole and Cusino deer yards were visited by the Conservation department district advisory committee on the weekend. Seventeen of 25 members were present. The next meeting will be April 8 at a location to be determined.

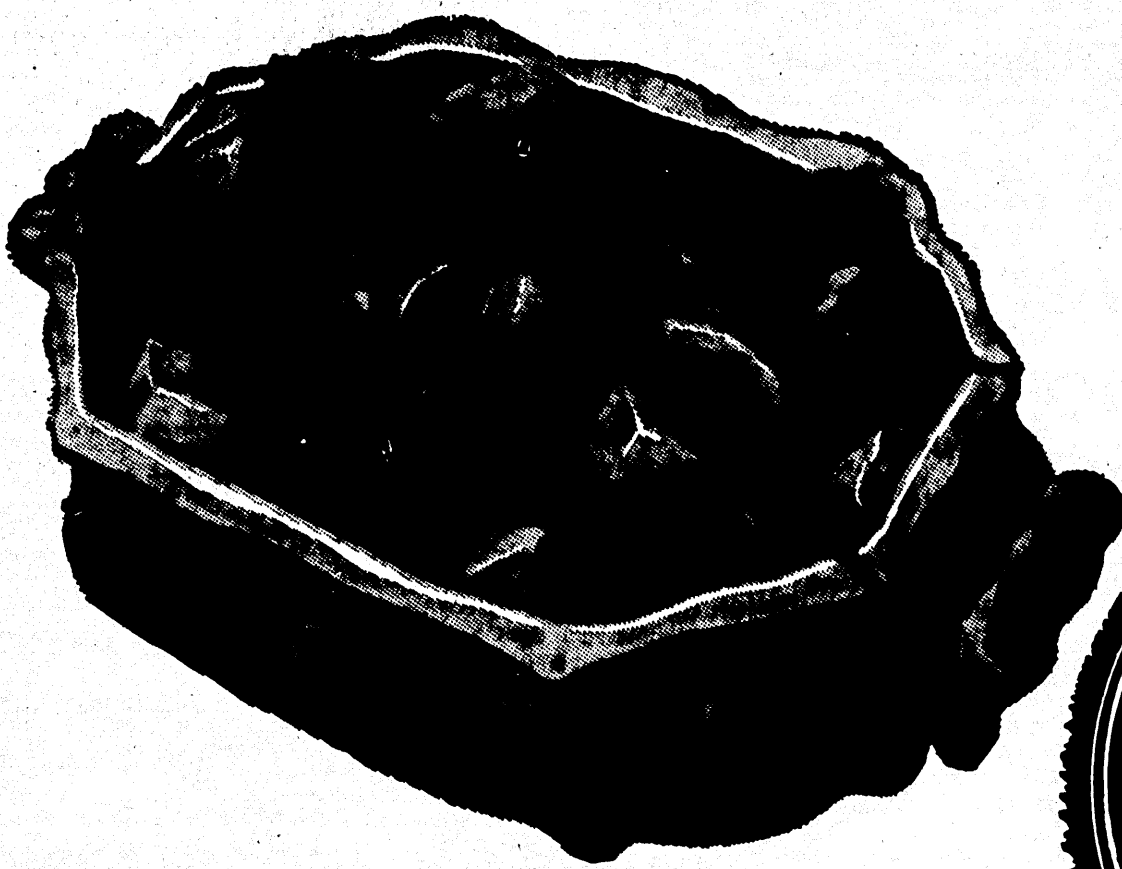

At Indian Lake management cuttings were inspected and showed deer feeding on cedar tops provided by cutters. One strip 66 feet wide and a half mile long was stripped of browse while a second strip contained enough for five more days. Little natural browse was available. The central sector of the yard was crossed with snow toboggans. There were no deer in the overbrowsed north part of the yard. Snow is approximately two feet deep.

The Sturgeon Hole deer yard had snow over two feet in depth, was short on available browse and track signs showed numerous deer using the area. The Cusino yard northeast of Shingletown had snow slightly over 3 1/2 feet. Hardpacked deer trails led to a cutting area in a thick cedar stand. The trails were two to three feet wide.

At Indian Lake and Cusino, no commercial logging operations are underway so deer are dependent on the management cuttings.

GLADSTONE

Gladstone And Rapid River To Talk Schools

Last fall the Gladstone Board of Education and school administration had the Rapid River School District's board and administrators over to discuss mutual school problems and next Monday night it will be turn about.

The Gladstone board and administrators will go to Rapid River on Monday evening to discuss possible consolidation of the districts and other matters.

The Gladstone board describes itself as one with mixed feelings about taking in other outlying districts to create a bigger school system. The Michigan Department of Education has been pushing for organization of school districts in the state with 2,000 students enrolled in a program offering kindergarten through 12th grade instruction. Such a number is difficult to achieve in the sparsely populated Upper Peninsula with no large cities.

1,321 Students

The 50-teacher Gladstone School System now has 1,321 students, 729 of them in grades 7 through 12, and it will have at least 60 more next year by natural enrollment without acquisition of any more school district.

Besides the City of Gladstone's school children it is schooling the high school students of Escanaba (Flat Rock) Township School District and of Brampton Township School District, which operate their own elementary schools but send secondary students to Gladstone High School.

If those townships were to annex to Gladstone to create a larger K-12 district it would cause no difficulties because their high school students already are being accommodated at Gladstone High School and they would have need of their elementary schools even in an enlarged district. Flat Rock has recently solved its grade school housing problem with construction of an addition to its modern school. Brampton's elementary school building is of wood and it may have to be replaced eventually no matter what decision is made on re-districting.

Rapid River District

Rapid River District comprises three townships, Masonville, Bay de Noc and Ensign, and it has a modern elementary school and an old high school. If a merger with Gladstone were to evolve, the only prospective building need might be elementary school enlargement.

The discussions between Gladstone and Rapid River school authorities appear more exploratory in the effort to cope with change than implementation of any adopted policies.

As North Delta County considers what other school district mergers might serve the trend toward consolidation, the Rock District in Maple Ridge Township and the Perkins District in Baldwin Township come into view. Neither has initiated a conversation with Gladstone on consolidation.

The Treenary District in Mathias Township, Alger County just across the north Delta County line has been discussing consolidation. The discussions have considered going to Munising for high schooling and also to Gladstone. The latter has been favored by some because the Treenary area has more business and social relationships with the Gladstone-Escanaba area than with Munising and because problems of transportation caused by the weather would be less coming south to Gladstone than north to Munising.

The Gladstone Board of

Three U.P. Cage Champs Come Through

North Country Teams Notch Easy Victories

Three Upper Peninsula cage kings swept out of the north country Wednesday night to fashion quarterfinal victories in the Michigan High School basketball tournament.

Menominee, Wakefield and Ewen, carrying U. P. colors on the state tourney trail, had easy pickings against downstate foes last night.

Coach Bob Krysiak's Menominee Maroons, runner-up to Escanaba in the Great Northern Conference and the team that knocked off defending champion Ishpeming in the U. P. Class B finals, trounced Standish-Sterling by a 64-44 margin at Traverse City.

The victory moves the Maroons into the semifinals Friday evening at 7 against Lansing O'Rafferty at Lansing Everett High School.

Lansing O'Rafferty (20-1) advanced to the semifinals by downing Flushing, 65-59, last night.

Wakefield smashed Gaylord by 26 points as the Big Red cagers ran their victory string to 22 games. Pacing Coach Jim Daniels' Cardinals to their 86-60 decision was Al Inkala, 6 foot 5 inch senior pivotman, with 35 points.

Wakefield's semifinal foe Friday night will be Mt. Pleasant Sacred Heart (24-0), a 72-53 winner over Shelby in last night's other quarterfinal tilt. The game will be played at 8:30 at the Lansing Civic Center.

Ewen's Bulldogs, powered by 6 foot 9 inch Terry Conrad, eliminated Cheboygan Catholic with no difficulty, 76-54. Conrad tipped in 34 points to boost his season total to 579.

Ewen's opponent in the semifinals will be Adrian Catholic, 66-45 winner over Centerville last night. The teams will clash at 7 at Lansing Sexton High School.

Pat Miller, 6 foot 3 inch junior, scored 23 points to lead Menominee to victory as the Maroons made their first appearance in history in the quarterfinals.

Miller found the range for five straight field goals early in the final period to spark a Maroon surge that clinched the decision. Menominee led by a 39-31 margin at that point.

Other point producers for the Maroons were Bill Jones and Dave Haglund with 12 each, Fred Matz seven, Dewey Bellisle six, Bob Johnson and Dale Englund two each.

In Mason County, they say many youngsters are taught to handle a basketball almost from the time they can walk.

The story never has been confirmed but no one in the basketball-conscious West Michigan communities around Freeport will deny it either, especially today.

That's because the Free Soil Pirates are packing up and heading for Lansing.

Free Soil High, which has only 70 students, earned the Class D Basketball Tournament trip Wednesday night with a smartly executed 82-69 victory over Posen in the quarterfinals.

It was a see-saw battle until the final four minutes of play when Steve Gajski and the Papes boys wrapped it up. Gajski scored 22 points to lead Max Carey's Pirates, who last went to Lansing in 1961 only to drop a 60-61 decision to Marquette Pierce in the championship game.

This time, the Pirates have more ammunition. Brothers Jerry and Ed Papes combined for 39 points against Posen and cousin Ken Papes added 14.

Freeport will have still competition, Adrian Catholic, Flint St. Matthew and Ewen also moved into the semifinals with convincing victories.

Adrian Catholic bumped Centerville 66-45 as Denny Drake netted 22 points. St. Matthew's defeated Bay City St. Joseph 55-49 with John Sperla notching 25. Ewen, with Terry Conrad dumping in 34 points, upended Cheboygan Catholic 76-54.

In Class B action, defending champion Grand Rapids East Christian took another step toward a second straight title by eliminating previously unbeaten South Haven 56-53. East Christian, with Bill Rykse and Don Moorhead combining for 48 points, led by 10 points most of the way and held off a desperate South Haven rally to win.

Tom Churma scored 15 of his 24 points in the third quarter in leading Lansing O'Rafferty to a 65-59 victory over Flushing. Willow Run shook off a fine Mount Clemens Clintonville team for a 65-57 triumph, and Menominee ousted Standish-Sterling 64-44.

Al Inkala's 35 points powered Wakefield to its 22nd victory, an 86-60 decision over Gaylord, and Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart bumped Shelby 72-53 to set up a Class C semifinal showdown between the two winners.

In the other Class C quarterfinals, Detroit All Saints beat Birmingham Country Day 58-52 behind Stan Grayson's 27 points and Leslie, canning 32 of 47 foul shots, nipped White Pigeon 64-44.

HIPS OVER HEAD in hoopland UCLA's towering Lew Alcindor keeps reminding rivals of his physical superiority. Here Lew leaves California's Bruce Steckel, left, a "sawed-off" 6-7 specimen, hanging hip-high as he arches a shot toward the basket. When you stand 7-1 and a fraction, it's easy.

Floor Mistakes Fail To Derail Pershing Quint

By The Associated Press

Can a team that commits 23 floor errors in the first half be a contender for the State Class A high school basketball title?

Detroit Pershing did just that Wednesday night and still swept past Warren Fitzgerald 89-59 to gain a semifinal berth at East Lansing Friday night.

The Doughboys will oppose Detroit Catholic Central, who ended Hamtramck's conderella dreams with an 80-57 victory.

The other semifinal game will match Flint Central, a 71-67 victory over Grand Rapids Ottawa Hills, and Kalamazoo Central, which eliminated Ypsilanti 74-53.

Most eyes will be on Pershing's sensational senior center, Spencer Haywood, when the Doughboys play Catholic Central Friday.

The 6-foot-8, 220-pound pivotman notched 34 points and hauled down 13 rebounds in Pershing's triumph over Fitzgerald.

Haywood's running mate, guard Ralph Simpson, scored 21 points and added 10 rebounds as the Doughboys raced to a 45-33 half-time lead.

Fitzgerald, ending the season with a 20-2 mark, played without a 6-foot-5 center Cliff Castor, out with a sprained ankle. John Polaski topped Fitzgerald with 22 points.

Catholic Central can thank Gutkowski for the victory over Hamtramck. He scored 24 points, most of them early in the game when the Cosmos still had a chance for victory.

Gutkowski, who averaged 13 points during the regular season, has been hitting at a 24-point-a-game clip in the tournament.

"I've got confidence in myself now," said the 6-foot-6 center who also hauled in 20 rebounds. "I'm not afraid to shoot now. It was before."

It was a good thing, because the Shamrocks' ace scorer, Nick Ferri, hit on only five of his first 22 shots. He didn't get 15 of his 20 points until the last quarter.

Catholic Central's tough defense held Hamtramck's high-scoring guards, Jim Smith and Ike Blessitt to 24 points, 17 by Blessitt.

Flint Central fell behind Ottawa Hills 39-34 at the half and didn't catch up until the final six minutes before pulling out the victory.

The lead changed four times in the final quarter until Freels Bacon hit a basket to put Central ahead 66-65 with 1:13 to play. Bacon then canned three straight free throws to ice the game.

Bacon topped Flint with 29 points. Otis Smith, who fouled out with 3:30 to play, topped Ottawa Hills with 27 points.

Kalamazoo Central led by only one point at the half but roared away after the intermission to whip Ypsilanti's Braves handily. Joe Blakely topped the Maroon Giants with 23 points and teammate Sam Simmons added 20.

NYU set a school and Madison Square Garden scoring record in 1961 when it beat Syracuse in basketball by 122-59.

Tom Smith Is Most Valuable Crusader Cager

Tom Smith, 6 foot 2 inch senior center, was named most valuable player on the Holy Name High School basketball squad by his mates this week.

Smith was Holy Name's top scorer, top rebounder and most accurate shooter from the field and free throw line.

The lanky veteran scored 322 points in 18 games for a 17.8 average. His total point production was over twice as much as the next highest scorer on the Crusader team. Dave Cannon was runner-up with 154 points.

Smith grabbed 209 rebounds for an average of 11 per game. His shooting percentage from the field was .397 and he connected on 69 per cent of his attempts from the free throw line.

Smith's best individual efforts were 28 points in a game against Gladstone, 25 twice in tilts with the Braves and Marquette Baraga and 24 in another game against Gladstone.

The Crusaders named Terry Dufour, a 6 foot 5 inch sophomore, as the most improved player on the squad this season. Dufour tallied 152 points for an 8.4 average and pulled down 159 rebounds.

Other players receiving varsity letters at an assembly this week were seniors Tom Menard and Dave Cannon, juniors

Tom Smith

Fron Veldman, Chris Young and Pat Verhamme and freshman Dan Young.

Following Smith, Cannon and Dufour in the scoring department were Menard with 131 points, Veldman 47, Chris Young 28, Dan Young, 27, Verhamme 17, Augie Janke 13, Al Grabowski 7 and Bill Peltin 4.

The Crusaders fashioned a 7-10 overall record this season, scoring 967 points to 1,097 for their opponents.

In two of their three previous appearances in the state high school basketball tournament, Wakefield's Cardinals were eliminated by the eventual state champion . . . In 1954 Wakefield bowed to Lansing St. Mary's in the semifinals, 61-43, and in 1965 the Cards were eliminated by Muskegon Christian, 66-54, also in the semis, and both times the winner went on to cop the state title . . . Wakefield's only other downstate trip came in 1964 and ended with a loss to Gaylord in the quarterfinals.

John Ralston, former Norway prep athlete who is head football coach at Stanford University, will be the speaker at the Norway High School athletic banquet Saturday, March 18, sponsored by the Moose Lodge . . . Ralston, one of the youngest coaches in major college ranks at 40, has been at Stanford for four years . . . His Indians posted a 6-3-1 record last fall, best at the school since 1955.

Roy Hopkins, Ironwood resident, has been honored with a berth in the Northland College Hall of Fame for his football exploits at the school in the 1930's . . . Hopkins, a native of Edgerton near Madison, wiped out Northland College rushing records during his four year career in which he started every game at right halfback.

The 29th annual amateur basketball classic at Hermansville is ready to go with Frank Rodman tying down all the loose ends this week . . . First games are scheduled for Saturday night . . . Assisting Rodman in the tourney is a committee headed by Don Hill, Steve Machalk, Doug LaCour, siere and Reno Fochesato . . . In effect this year will be a 25 point rule which will end a game at the close of the third quarter if a team is trailing by 25 points at that time . . . The rule will be in effect until the Class B quarterfinal games are played.

They say that the home court advantage is about seven points in high school basketball . . . We don't know if that figure is correct or not, but we do know that home teams win more games than they lose . . . A glance at the records of area teams in the past season is proof enough . . . For the five major schools in our area — Gladstone, Escanaba, Holy Name, Manistique and Stephenson — the home team won 24 games and lost 17 . . . For the dozen small schools in the area the percentage of home victories was even greater, 70 wins against 38 defeats . . . Two of the teams were unbeaten on their home courts, Escanaba and Trenary winning nine straight.

Piston Playoff Hopes Are Jolted

DETROIT (AP) — An in-and-out night for Dave DeBusschere may have cost the Detroit Pistons a spot in the National Basketball Association's Western Division playoffs.

Detroit, with three games to play, dropped a 96-91 decision to the Chicago Bulls Wednesday night. Detroit fell a half game behind the Bulls in the battle for the fourth and final playoff berth in the West.

Chicago has two games left to play so the decision on who makes the NBA playoffs may go to the final day of the season. A tie for last place would necessitate a playoff for the playoffs. If that happens, the game will be played in Detroit.

Initiate Five In Quill And Scroll

The Quill and Scroll Society of Manistique High School initiated Sally Bonifas, Cheryl Jackson, Christine Cooper, Mark Kelly and Beverly Messer into membership at the annual dinner Tuesday evening in the school.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Frank S. Hoholik, president of Manistique Pulp and Paper Co., who spoke on dedication of news editors and writers, lack of communications progress at the same rate as in technology, and the hope that the generation which will run the country in the last quarter of the century will find the key to solve man's quest for peace.

Despite the great technological advances made, youth is unhappy and so are adults, as evidenced in various ways, including student uprisings on campuses. His discussion included observations on conflict of the capitalist, communist and socialist systems, the high levels of education in the United States and changing values.

Julie Sellman was in charge of invocation and Marcia Pappas was toastmaster. Music included a piano solo by Pamela Putvin and an accordion solo by James Weber.

Mrs. Carl Makel, class advisor spoke on Quill and Scroll goals and requirements and the role of the journalist. Members of the society assisting in the ceremonies were Tina Gorsche, Eric Larson, Marcia Pappas, Ann Sample and Julie Sellman.

Jim Pryal Recalls Early Esky's Irish

James David Pryal is Irish, 82 years of it.

"He wears 'a little Shamrock' on St. Patrick's Day as a remembrance of his parents. Both of them were born in Ireland.

They came from Connard, County Clare, Ireland, as young children. "I don't think they were over two or three years old," said Pryal. "I heard them talk about it.

"My parents landed in Milwaukee. They had relatives there. Later they moved to Ozaukee County, and both families lived on farms. My mother's name was Anna Hickey and her father was a grain thresher who had machines going around to the farms.

"My father, James S. Pryal, was a farmer. My parents were married at Cedarburg and they came to Escanaba in 1892. I was born in Cedarburg, and so were my two brothers and five sisters. My brothers are both dead and I have two sisters alive in Los Angeles.

Grocer in Escanaba

"My father started a grocery store in Escanaba in 1904 on the corner of 14th and 1st Ave. N., and the building has been changed into an apartment house and I live there today. His store was Pryal's Grocery and he was in business there for quite a few years.

"Escanaba then was mostly Germans, Irish, French and Scandinavians. It had a big population of Irish. There were a lot of Irish in our neighborhood and quite a few Germans and French.

"Besides the Pryals, the John Conahans, Owen Conahan, the Pat Macaulays, Billy Gallagher, the Murphys, the Corbets, the Chisholms, Shanahans, Tim Maher, the Hickeyes, Browns, "King of the Beavers" Gallagher, who was Captain Ben's father, Cornelius Harrington and the Boyles were among the Irish.

"They pretty near all worked for the North Western. Lots were from ore trimmers; that was a big business then. When the ore went down the hatch they spread it out in the boats.

Irish Taverns

"A Frenchman, Noey Doe, ran the tavern across from our grocery. The name was on the building for years but I'm shaky about the spelling of it now. The Irish went there, but they used to hang around Billy Sullivan's on Ludington and 13th St., a lot. And Charlie Gallagher had one down the street a couple of blocks and the trimmers used to hang around there, and at Gannon's on 1st Ave. N. and 8th St.

"There was no St. Patrick's Church then, they had to go to St. Joseph's Church, but it was a German Church and finally the Irish built a church of their own, St. Patrick's. When they built the church I drove a horse hoisting up the bricks for Old Man Hogan, who had that contract. He was a house mover. My father bought one of the houses that was moved away to clear the site for the church and he put it on the lot next to our store. My son Dick owns the house today.

The Irish Paraded

"The Irish used to have a parade on St. Patrick's Day in Escanaba and I was in it lots of times. Father Langen, the first priest at St. Pat's, used to lead the parade on St. Patrick's Day. We used to march on 1st Ave. S. (three-lined Wells Ave.) and I don't think they went on Main St. (Ludington). They used to call Ludington St. 'Main St.' when I first came here.

"We'd all have a green ribbon tied on our arm. I started railroad in 1902 and I was railroad when I marched with the Irish so it must have been around 1905, but I may be a little off on that. They didn't have any McNamara's Band; in fact I don't think we had any McNamara's in Escanaba.

"We had a Hibernian Society and they all belong to that, pretty near. They were pretty nearly all Catholics. John O'Meara and Charlie Maloney were leaders of the Irish community. O'Meara ran a baker shop and Maloney ran a feed store. It was all horses then, no cars.

North Side Irish

"They used to have picnics every year at South Park. There was no park where Ludington Park is today; the Ike Stephenson Co. had a lumber yard there.

"The national groups stayed together more in those days than later. They had their own picnics and gatherings.

"We had an Irish mayor, Joseph Pryal. And Ben McKilligan was mayor. He was Scotch, but he flocked with the Irish.

"The Irish were pretty thick on the North Side because so many were ore trimmers and it was handier to their work.

"There were a lot of Irish wakes.

"Old Mrs. Kidd and Mrs. Boyle used to dance in the street. Mrs. Kidd's son would play the phonograph and they'd dance jigs and reels.

Penny Clay Pipes

"The Irish died out around here. Children got married and left. The girls didn't all marry Irish so some Irish names disappeared. It was the same with the other nationalities, the Germans and the Scandinavians and the French.

"There are a lot of Irish at Holy Cross Cemetery. There was a big burying ground back of the Y Tavern and a lot were buried there. They moved that cemetery away in my time.

"My father sold clay pipes in the store. Those old schlemmies would have one as black as your hat. They were only a penny or two.

"Did they drink Irish whisky? I think they drank any kind they could get.

Six Children

"My wife, Julia, is Irish. Her maiden name was Julia Collins. She went to school here but her folks had a farm near Fairport. Her father came from Maine and her mother's family was here before there were any buildings. Her name was Champ and the family had a brewery and made ale up the shore before there was a brewery in Escanaba. When they started to make lager beer in Escanaba they went out of business.

"We have six children: Bob, a commercial fisherman in Alaska who makes his home at Everett, Wash.; Dorothy, a stenographer in San Francisco; Mrs. Jay (Mary) Sneed, San Jose, Calif.; Francis, of Milwaukee; Mrs. Gus (Julia) Almonroeder of Escanaba and Dick of Escanaba, who owns the Goodman Drug Store at 1018 Ludington.

"I've been a North Western Railway man all my life. I started in 1902 as a water boy and messenger boy on the ore docks and worked at that job until 1905 when I went braking and I wound up as a passenger conductor. I retired in 1955 and I've done nothing since then.

Timber Landowner

"I have been in the land business a little. I used to have 60 forties, but I'm down to 40. Dave Downey of the Wisconsin Land & Lumber Co., at Hermansville was on the train a lot and he was always after me to buy timber. If I'd listened to him I'd have had a hundred forties. The land I have has got some pretty good timber on it. It's mostly in Alger and Marquette counties. I sold some in Dickinson County last summer.

"I homesteaded land north of Ralph in 1911 and I still have three forties of it. I gave one to the Corbett kids for a hunting camp. I've sold the timber off of it three times and it's pretty good again. I came near having half of 10 sections but Pat Gannon died just as we were closing the deal. We were to be partners.

"Families are like the United Nations now. They have all kinds of nationalities in them. I guess that's better than being all Irish. Nowadays people are so mixed up they don't pay any attention to nationality."

Skilled Men Map Demands

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)

— Troubled by unrest within their ranks but holding veto power over new contracts, skilled tradesmen of the United Auto Workers Union began gathering here to map demands they will make in 1967 bargaining.

More than 1,300 delegates representing 200,000 UAW skilled will begin drafting proposals Thursday which they will submit to the union's prebargaining general convention in Detroit April 20-22 for inclusion in contract goals this year. Meetings end Saturday.

A 1966 constitutional amendment permits various union segments—white-collar, skilled and production—to vote separately on any new contracts. There must be approval by all segments for final ratification.

Skilled trades make up about a fourth of the UAW membership in the automotive industry.

Douglas Fraser, a member of the UAW's international executive board and a codirector of its skilled trades department, concedes there is unrest among the tradesmen. UAW President Walter P. Reuther is the other codirector of the department.

Under pressure from the skilled, the UAW attempted unsuccessfully last year to win reopening of current contracts to gain tradesmen an immediate pay raise of at least 50 cents hourly.

Reuther promised then to work for "a substantial increase" for them in bargaining which opens in early July. Current contracts run out Sept. 5.

A "Dollar An Hour Now Committee" was organized by some dissident Detroit tradesmen when pressure was being applied for reopening, and that figure is likely to be proposed here.

A special equipment package, including white sidewall tires and wheel covers, offers a net saving of up to $480, the company said.
